Dear Sirs:

I have had the opportunity to work with representatives from the George S. May International Company on business projects for [Redacted]. Our project consisted of systems evaluation in the finance and accounting department as well as other related areas such as marketing and personnel policies.

During the project, analysts developed systems improvements and taught our staff the mechanics and significance of each one. Various members of our staff were included at different stages of the project and each learned from the process. I was surprised at how little interruption to our operations occurred during the project. Skills and techniques learned will be valuable to our company long after the on-site work has been completed. Within the time allotted, all objectives were met with a very satisfactory result. All identified issues have been dealt with professionally and are completed at this time.

I have high degree of regard for the people and work that was performed for our company and look forward to having George S. May International work with us again. Please don't hesitate to refer prospective clients to me for a recommendation.

Best Regards,
